REGULAR SESSION COMMON COUNCIL

Report of Gas Expert Received With Partial Report of Special Committee.

NO BUILDING INSPECTOR YET

Blues Want Armony-Expenses of President Day Nearly Nine Thousand.

The Common Council met last night in regular menthly session and transacted a large volume of routine business. The Building Inspector question did not cut as great a figure as had been expected. The ordinance providing for it was recommended for correction and perfections. The recommended for correction and perfections of the ordinance requiring fire temperature for the providing to the recommendation was adopted by a recorded vote of twenty-four ayes to five noes.

the sergeant-at-arms, Thomas Bahen acted as such.

Two Vetoes.

A message from the Mayor veloing the ordinance providing for the employ-ment of an architect for the high school building was read. The Mayor's objecbuilding was read. The Mayor's objec-tion to the ordinance is technical only, and is that it is loosely drawn and can be understood only by those familiar with it. The veto was unanimously sus-

The Committee on Streets, through Mr Pollock, submitted a lengthy report, and most of its recommendations were adopted, and several minor ordinances were adopted, among them one allowing the Bouthern Railway to extend its spur track across Dock street and Shockoe creek to the property of J. Mr. Mills replied that there were several reasons, but a sufficient one was that the Council cannot instruct, a joint committee. Instructions can come only by concurrent action of the Common Ceuncil and the Board of Alderman. Mr. Cannon then asked that the report be recommitted to the Water Committee, and later he offered a concurrent resolution giving the same instructions to the committee. Mr. Mills's motion was adopted, and the conduit contract goes back to the committee.

Gas Works Business.

Gas Works Business.

Mr. Morton, chairman of the special committe to injestigate the gas works, submitted the following report:
To the Cougell of the City of Richmond:
Your special joint committee on investigation of the gas works begs leave to make this preliminary report of its proceedings, and herewith return for your information the report of the expert gas engineer employed in this investigation. Immediately upon, organization, your committee made a careful personal inspection of the city gas works. They then yield the cities of Baltimore and Philadelphia, whose gas plants are considered amongst the best in the country, and made as thorough a study of the physical condition, modern improvements and methods of operating these plants as it was possible for non-experts to make, for which your committee was afforded every facility by the officials in charge. Upon returning to Richmond, your committee, after careful inquiry, selected as its expert, Mr. Howard Bruce, a gas engineer of reputation and experience, and then engaged in installing a large sas plant in New York city.

of operation, and to report as soon as practicable. In order to make this Investigation it was necessary to secure certain instruments and cappliances and to employ an expert gas accountant. The appliances purchased for this nurpose are now the property of the city and will prove indispensable in the proper management of the plant hereafter.

The report of the expert was placed in the hands of your committee early in September, but the necessity for a careful study thereof and for additional explanation has delayed your committee in making up its report. There has, however, been expressed by members of the Council and the general public so much impatience to learn the true conditions of the city gas plant that your committee has concluded not to await the completion of its report, but to submit at once to the Council for its information the report of the expert, with the recommendation that it be printed. The report of your committee, containing its findings and recommendations, will be presented shortly.

Expert Bruce's report be printed for the use of the Council. Mr. Garber moved, as an amendment, that the report be given the press to copy and print for the information of the public. Mr. Pollock moved that the expert's report be read, adding: "That will make it public property, and the press will be entitled to it." Mr. Pollock's motion was withdrawn and Mr. Garber's was passed, and that ended the discussion for the present of the gas works question.

At the Theatres.

At the Bijou last evening "Billy" (Single) Clifford scored an immense hit in his new musical comedy "A Jolly Baron." The comedy is in two acts, the story, by Matt C. Woodward, dealing with the love troubles of a young couple, Around this plot is woven a series of humorous situations that give the star and his companions many opportunities for fun-making which they did not fall to take full advantage of. o take full advantage of.

Mr. Clifford added much to his repu tation in the title role by his allround cleverness. His songs were well chosen and were received with great favor. Excellent aid in the fun-making was given by Louis Morton, Leo Hayes and George Ebner, a trio of comedians, each a capable player.

Of the specialties the dancing of the three Constantine Sisters was of a very high order and was accorded great applauss. The initiations of George Ebner was another feature that won the audience.

Jeannette Marcelle sang several songs most acceptably, chief among which was "On A Beautiful Distant Land," and "The Miller's Maild." The musical numbers, of which there were eighteen, were composed by Harry Von Tilzer. The costuming and scenery of "A Jolly Baron" are rich and in good taste. In this production Mr. C. F. Whitaker, manager of Mr. Cilifford, has given his star by far the most pretentious surroundings and largest company he has thus far had, if the reception accorded Mr. Cilifford and his play last evening may be accepted as a criterion A Jolly may be accepted as a criterion A Jolly Baron's business this week will be im-

"When We Were Twenty-One" is known to many as one of the most fascinating and powerful comedy dramas ever ofand powerful comedy dramas ever of fered on any stage through its production by Mr. Goodwin in the larger cities of the country, fullowed by Mr. Morris, who played it through this section. When the company was being selected in New York last summer, the greatest palas were taken to engage only those who perfectly fitted the parts assigned to them, and several Broadway favorites were rejected, one after the other, because they could not quite come up to the standard. The result is that, with several members of the original cast and the new stars, so enrefully selected, the play is having a production that has never been excelled. It will appear at the Academy to-night.

Lewis Morrison. Lewis Morrison appears as Mephisto at the Academy on Thursday for matinee and night in a superb new scenic produc-tion of "Faust," with new choral, musical and scenic effects. The new apotheosis, with its choral music and vocal solos, is said to be a splendidly dramatic closing to the play.

At 9 clock over 2,000 admission tickets had been sold, and by that time there were over 400 skaters on the floor. Promptly at 9:39 three taps on the gong were sounded, and the floorwas soon cleared. Then Professor Aginton appeared in a beautiful skating costume of turquoise blue silk, with a bollero jacket of plush matching the rest of his costume. As soon as he got to the middle of the great skating floor the audience realized that there was a treat in store. At the snd of his fifteen minutes' exhibition, the round of applause which greeted his act plainly said that "he had made good."

Corrado's Royal Italian band delighted the skaters, as most of them tried to keep time with the popular marches played by the band. The moving pletures also served to interest, as there are always hew features in these scenes.
